JEFFERSON DAVIS.

yew version of the capture of Jefferson Davis. Here it is:

I am no admirer of Jeff. Davis. I am a Yankee, born between Saccarappa and Gerham Corner, am full of Yankee prejnces; but I think it wicked to lie even about him, or, for that matter, about the devil. I was with the party that captured Jeff. Davis; saw the whole transaction from the beginning. I now say—and hope you will publish it—that Jeff. Davis ident have on at the time he was taken, are garment such as is worn by women, if did have over his shoulders a water-good article of clothing—something like it—thavelock. It was not in the least carcaded. He wore a hat, and did not early a pail, backet or kettle in any way, but bost of my recollection, he carried making whatever in his hands. His wife did not tell any person that her hashend neight hurt somebody if he got experated. She behaved like a lady, and he as a gentleman, though manifestly he was chagined at being taken into castedy. Our soldiers behaved like gentlemen, as they were, and our officers in the heaventhe between the the feel.

estocy. Our soldiers behaved like gen-timen, as they were und our officers like honorable, brave men; and the fool-ish stories that went the newspaper rounds of the day, telling how wolfishly be deported himself, were all false. I know what I am writing about. I saw Jefferson Davis many times while he was staying in Portland several years ago; and I think I was the first one who reand I think I was the first one who re-cegnized him at the time of his arrest. When it was known that he was certain-ly taken, some newspaper correspondent —I knew his name at the time—fabri-cated the story about the disguise in an all woman's dress. I heard the whole matter talked over as a good joke; and the officers, who knew better, never took the trouble to deny it. Perhaps they thought the Confederate President destrought the Confederate President deserved all the contempt that could have been put upon him. I think so, too, only I would never perpetrate a falshood that by any means would become history. And, further, I would never slander a woman who has shown so much devotion as Mrs. Davis has to her husband, no matter how wicked he is or may have been. I defy any person to find a single officer or soldier who was present at the capture of Jeff Davis who will say, upon honor, that he was disguised in woman's clothes, or that his wife acted in any way unladylike or undignified on that occasion. I have been the capture of t unladylike or undignified on that occa-sion. I go for trying him for his crimes, and if he is found guilty punish him; but I would not lie about him when the truth will certainly make it bad enough. James H. Parker. Ellburnville, Pa.
